WARRANTY RIDER - STORMARMOR PRODUCTS

This warranty rider applies to, and modifies, all MI warranties, regarding all MI branded products containing the StormArmor feature.

StormArmor products include impact resistant glass (which may be laminated), a sample of which has been tested as described in the product specification sheets. If broken, impact resistant glass is designed to remain in the window or door opening to improve the chances that the structure will not collapse due to pressure resulting from high winds (as more particularly described in the testing standards referenced in the product specification sheets). As with any product, windows and doors containing StormArmor impact resistant glass may allow water penetration in a storm event.

After any storm event, carefully inspect all doors and windows in your building or residence for any impact or damage, and determine whether to file a claim with your insurance company if there is any damage to the glass or other components. Damage to glass or other window components may compromise the integrity of a StormArmor product. Depending on the length and severity of any storm event, the StormArmor product (or components of the product) may require repair or replacement to provide continued protection.
